Nidoto Nai Yōni

Let it not happen again

In 1942, in the wake of fear and suspicion following the attack on Pearl Harbor, over 120,000 people of Japanese ancestry were required to leave their homes on the west coast of the U.S.

Solely because of their heritage, tens of thousands of U.S. citizens were interned for the duration of the war.

Mr. Yosh Nakagawa will share about his experience as a child in an internment camp.

Dr. Jeffrey Haggray will encourage us to prevent such injustices from happening again.
